

MAN

about town

Full name: Daniel Richards.

Nickname as child: Daniel-Son.

Work: Dentist at 1300Smiles at Cairns Central.

Age: Age is irrelevant as you stay as young as the women you date.

Attached/single/plans or future: I am attached to being single and I have an awesome future plan.

Describe your perfect partner: Crazy, crazy, crazy. We have not crossed paths yet, but when we do, she had better watch out.

The one thing you would change if you were a polli: Bring peace to the Middle East and help the Palestinian people receive basic human rights. Or I could be more realistic and build a two-storey bridge between NZ and Australia.

Your brush with fame: Just prior to becoming a huge All Blacks (rugby union) fan, I met Jonah Lumo (the biggest name in rugby union). We had a general conversation for about 30 minutes, then I asked him what he does for living and he said I am Jonah Luma, I replied: "Pleased to meet you Jonah, but what do you do for living?"

Your funniest moment: It's too embarrassing to mention and it was a long time ago. The least embarrassing moment was when I spent weeks talking on the phone to a friend I met at Innisfail hospital, only to find out he lived next door.

Most bizarre thing about you that no one knows: I have a relationship with my GPS, her name is Amanda and she is English.

Your favourite outdoor activity: Camping and playing sports.

Your favourite indoor activity: Watching sports – tennis, rugby, soccer.

Vehicle of choice: Of course my car, Audi TT coupe.

Cologne: I heard it's a beautiful place in Germany, I will probably go there in summer then I might use my favourite cologne Dunhill London.

Favourite clothing item/accessory: My necklace, it comes in a shape of the country Palestine and has the flag colours enamelled on it. I have never taken it off my neck in the 15 years ago I have had it.

Favourite book/magazine: The Koran.

Favourite album/musician: The Eagles Hotel California.

Ultimate career: Hugh Hefner or Bill Gates – they have it all, money, fame, women and travel. Not sure if it's a career but it sounds like a great lifestyle. CL

Photography by Romy Siegmann.